

Dorothy E. Denning VITA

I. BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

1. Demographic Information

Dorothy E. Denning
Emeritus Distinguished Professor
Department of Defense Analysis
Naval Postgraduate School
589 Dyer Rd., Room 214
Monterey, California 93943
Ph: 831-656-3105
email: dedennin@nps.edu
web: <https://faculty.nps.edu/dedennin/>
Citizenship: USA

2. Education

Purdue University, PhD in Computer Science, 1972-1975
Thesis: Secure Information Flow in Computer Systems, supervised by Herbert Schwetman
IBM Fellowship

University of Michigan, MA in Mathematics, 1967-1969

University of Michigan, BA in Mathematics, 1963-1969
Regents Alumni Scholarship; Zeta Tau Alpha Scholarship

3. Professional History

Naval Postgraduate School, Department of Defense Analysis, Monterey CA, 2002-

Emeritus Distinguished Professor, 2017-; Distinguished Professor, 2009-16; Professor, 2002-09.

Developed courses in conflict and cyberspace; computer network attacks and defense; trust, influence, and networks; and terrorist financing, primarily for students in special operations and information operations. Conducted research and published papers relating to cyber conflict and cyber security. Received funding from the Department of Defense. Advised masters students on theses.

Chair, DA Department Evaluation Committee (DEC), 2003-

Chaired ten departmental promotions and tenure evaluation committees.

Associate Chair, Cyber Academic Group, 2011-2015.

Assisted with creation and management of new cyber curriculum at NPS.

NPS committee memberships

Faculty Council (DA Rep), 2014-
GSOIS Dean Reappointment Committee, 2008
Faculty Recruitment and Retention, 2007
Sustaining Faculty Excellence, 2006

Georgetown University, Computer Science Department, Washington DC, 1991-2002

Patricia and Patrick Callahan Family Professor of Computer Science, 2001-2002; Professor of Computer Science, 1991-2002.

Developed courses in information warfare, codes and ciphers, networks and society, data communications, and introduction to computers and networks for a broad spectrum of graduate and undergraduate students in the university. Taught existing courses in introductory computer science. Conducted research and published papers in the areas of cyber crime and information warfare; activism, hacktivism, and cyber terrorism on the Internet; location-based encryption and authentication; the impact of encryption and other concealment technologies on crime and law enforcement; encryption policy; key recovery systems; and wiretapping.

Director, Georgetown Institute for Information Assurance, 2000-2002.

Formed a new interdisciplinary institute for information assurance involving the main campus, law center, and medical center.

Co-Chair, Technology Oversight Committee, 1999-2000.

Reviewed technology issues on campus and made recommendations for change.

Member, Faculty Advisory Board for Communication, Culture, and Technology, 1996-.

Helped create CCT program, served on advisory board for CCT, supervised CCT masters theses, advised students, and taught CS courses jointly listed with CCT.

Member, Field Committee for Science and Technology in International Affairs, 1997-.

Served on faculty committee for STIA program, mentored STIA students, supervised senior theses, and taught CS courses jointly listed with STIA.

Member, Information Security Policy committee, 1999.

Helped write an information security policy for the university.

Chair, Computer Science Department, 1991-1994.

Managed a department of five full-time faculty, two adjunct faculty, and about twenty undergraduate majors.

Chair, Computing and Networking Task Force, 1991-92.

Led university-wide effort to develop a strategic plan for academic use of information technology.

Digital Equipment Corporation, Systems Research Center, Palo Alto, CA, 1987-91

Principal Software Engineer, 1987-91.

Managed an international, collaborative research program that involved making SRC's computing environment available to colleagues at eight universities, four of which were outside the United States. Handled budgets, proposals, licenses, and an annual conference. Conducted a research study on young computer hackers who break into computer systems.

SRI International, Computer Science Lab, Menlo Park, CA, 1983-1987

Senior Staff Scientist, 1987; Senior Computer Scientist, 1984-87; Computer Scientist, 1983-84.

Principle developer of SRI model of a real-time intrusion-detection expert system (IDES) aimed at detecting break-ins and other forms of computer misuse. Led effort to build prototype. Principle investigator and project leader of SeaView project, a joint effort by SRI and Gemini Computers to model and design a multilevel-secure database system at class A1. Developed techniques for handling inference problems in multilevel databases. Led SRI project to assess the vulnerabilities in a major computer system and recommend a security plan. Participated in other security evaluations. Developed a prototype user interface on an IBM PC for SRI's verification system. Received funding from the U.S. Air Force, the U.S. Navy, the U.S. Army, NSF, NASA, and the private sector.

Purdue University, Computer Science Department, W. Lafayette, IN, 1972-1983

Associate Professor, 1981-83; Assistant Professor, 1975-81; Ph.D. Fellowship: 1974-75; Instructor, 1972-74.

Developed and taught a course in cryptography and data security. Taught existing courses in database systems, data structures, programming languages, and introductory programming. Conducted research and published papers in the area of information security. Developed the lattice model of secure information flow, techniques for protecting sensitive data released as summary statistics, and cryptographic protocols and techniques for networks and databases. Developed a prototype tool that displays graphically the data structures of a program as they evolve during program execution. Received funding from NSF. Supervised the Ph.D. studies of Matt Bishop and served on several other Ph.D. committees.

University of Rochester, Rochester, NY, 1969-72

Systems Programmer, Computing Center, 1969-72.

Performed systems programming tasks on an IBM System 360. Designed and implemented an interpreter for the Easy Control Language (ECL), which translated ECL into the Job Control Language (JCL) of the System 360. The interpreter was installed and used at Rochester and the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center.

Instructor, Electrical Engineering, 1971-72; School of Business, 1971.

Developed and taught courses in data structures, programming languages, and compiler design.

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI, 1967-72

Teaching and Research Assistant, Computing Center, 1969

Taught a lab section of the introductory course in computer science under Bernard Galler, assisted users in the computing center, and evaluated software for the computing center.

Assistant Research Mathematician, Radio Astronomy, 1967-69.

Developed a program that simulates the path of a satellite, using ray tracing techniques to plot when the satellite could receive signals from various sources. Wrote three reports.

III. RESEARCH FUNDING

At NPS (2002-present)

Department of Defense (DOD) Supply Chain Risk Management (SCRM) Threat Analysis Center (TAC) Collaboration Project with Naval Postgraduate School (NPS), $150K, 2011. Supervised students who identified and analyzed known cyber supply chain malware incidents, which included 183 unclassified cases and an additional set of classified ones.

Department of Defense, Assessing the Computer Network Operations (CNO) Threat of Foreign Countries, $54K, 2004-2005. Supervised students who developed a methodology for assessing the state cyber threat and applied the methodology to Iran and North Korea.

At SRI International (1983-1987)

National Science Foundation, Multilevel Database Security, $100K (est), 1983-85. Developed cryptographic techniques for protecting multilevel databases.

US Air Force RADC, Multilevel Database Security, $1M (est), 1985-88. Led SRI/Gemini SeaView project to model and design a multilevel-secure database system at class A1.

US Navy SPAWAR, Two grants on Intrusion Detection, $500K (est), 1984-87. Developed SRI model of an Intrusion Detection Expert System (IDES) and led effort to develop prototype.

US Army CECOM, Military Database Technology Study, $100K (est). Developed techniques for addressing inference problems.

At Purdue University (1975-1983)

National Science Foundation: Research in Secure Computer Systems, 1977-79; Data Security, 1981-85; Multilevel Database Security, 1983-85.

IV. INTERNAL NPS ACTIVITIES

a. Course and laboratory development

I developed 4 courses as follows:

DA 3104, Computer Network Attack and Defense. This course introduces the basic principles of attacking and defending computer networks, as well as basic networking concepts. The course includes some hands-on work in a lab with hacking and security technologies. Kristen Tsolis developed the lab materials under my supervision.

DA 3105, Conflict and Cyberspace. This course examines how cyberspace, particularly the Internet, can serve as a tool, target, and source of conflict for both state and non-state actors. Topics include: power in cyberspace, methods and technologies of cyber conflict, cyber-based information operations, domestic and international laws governing cyber operations, cybercrime, cyber activism and hacktivism, terrorists and jihadists in cyberspace, cyberwarfare, cyber surveillance, critical infrastructure protection, and cyber conflict strategy and challenges.

DA 4601, Terrorist Financing. This course examines how terrorists fund their activities and the role of that funding in counterterrorism. It covers sources and methods of terrorist financing, methods of moving and storing money, and the underground economy and nexus between crime and terrorism. It covers national and international structures, laws, regulations, tools, and efforts to identify, track, capture, and eliminate terrorists and their financial support through their financial transactions.

SO 4106, Trust, Influence and Networks. This course examines the underlying nature of trust, influence, and networks, and how they relate to each other. Students are given a theoretical foundation for these concepts and shown how they apply to a broad spectrum of activity, including irregular warfare, terrorism and counterterrorism, information and influence operations, and intelligence operations; how trust and influence are established, maintained, exploited, and lost; and the functions they serve for individuals, organizations, and societies.

V. EXTERNAL PROFESSIONAL AND SERVICE ACTIVITIES

a. Navy/DoD Activity

Member, Independent Strategic Assessment Group, Computer Network Defense/Computer Network Attack, advising the Commander in Chief of SPACECOM, 2000-2002.

Member, DoD Messaging Advisory Board, Department of Defense, 1996.

Invited reviewer, Escrowed Encryption System (Clipper Chip), NSA/NIST, 1993-94.

Chair, Workshop on Computer Security Curriculum, National Computer Security Center (NCSC), 1987.

Group leader, Workshop on Computer Network Security, NCSC, 1985.

Member, Steering Committee, Air Force Summer Study on Multilevel Secure Database Management, 1982.

Member, Steering Committee, US Army Automation Security Workshop, 1978.

b. External Professional Activities

International Association for Cryptologic Research

President, 1983-86 (served 2 terms as first president).

Director, 1986-90.

Program committee member for several CRYPTO and EUROCRYPT conferences.

ACM

Chair, Special Interest Group on Operating Systems Principles (SIGOPS), 1980-83; Secretary-Treasurer, 1977-80.
Member, Program Committee for ACM Workshop on Scientific Aspects of Cyber Terrorism (SACT), 2002.
Member, Advisory Committee on Security and Privacy (ACSP), 2001.
Member, ACM Panel on Cryptography Policy, 1993-94.
Co-Chair, ACM Conference on Computer and Communications Security, 1993, 1994.
ACM Representative on Board of Directors, Computing Research Association, 1991-95.
Associate Editor, Transactions on Computer Systems, 1982-90.
Chair, Grace Murray Hopper Awards Committee, 1981; member, 1979-82.
Member, ACM Computing Reviews Category Revision Committee, 1979-81
Program committee member for several SIGOPS conferences.

IEEE Computer Society

Editorial Board, IEEE Security and Privacy, 2003-2015.
Program Co-Chair, IEEE Symposium on Security and Privacy, 1983, 1984.
Newsletter Editor, IEEE Technical Committee on Security and Privacy, 1978-79.
IEEE Distinguished Visitor, 1978-80.

National Academy of Sciences

Member, Panel on Information Technology, Board of Assessment of NIST Programs, 1993-1998.
Chair, Forum on Rights and Responsibilities of Participants in Networked Communities, Computer Science and Technology Board, 1992-1993.
Member, Panel on Evaluation of Statistical Software, 1982-83.

Government

Co-Chair, Standards and Certification Working Group, Electronic Crimes Partnership Initiative, 2001-2002.
Member, Independent Strategic Assessment Group, Computer Network Defense/Computer Network Attack, advising the Commander in Chief of SPACECOM, 2000-2002.
Member, National Cybercrime Training Partnership portfolio on Industry and Academia, 2000-2002.
Member, President's Export Council Subcommittee on Encryption, 1998-2001.
Member, Technical Advisory Committee to Develop a Federal Information Processing Standard for the Federal Key Management Infrastructure, 1996-98.
Member, DoD Messaging Advisory Board, Department of Defense, 1996.
Information Technology Advisor, Federal Bureau of Investigation, 1993-95.
Invited reviewer, Escrowed Encryption System (Clipper Chip), 1993-1994.
Chair, Workshop on Computer Security Curriculum, National Computer Security Center, 1987.
Group leader, Workshop on Computer Network Security, National Computer Security Center, 1987.
Member, Steering Committee, Air Force Summer Study on Multilevel Secure Database Management, 1982.
Member, Steering Committee, U.S. Army Automation Security Workshop, 1978.
